Threat Modeling

Be Prepared to Proactively Defend Your Assets

The Need

With cyberattacks growing in sophistication and volume, the ability to proactively identify by whom and from where your organization might be attacked is paramount.

Threat modeling is one of the most expedient and efficient tools organizations can employ to enhance their security posture.

The Solution

Holisticyber's Threat Modeling identifies, specifies, evaluates and communicates cybersecurity threats, and then mitigates them to protect your assets.

What to Expect

- We will define your critical business processes and assets
- We will identify all relevant threat actors, both internal and external
- We will evaluate and prioritize these threats
- We will put it all together to provide a clear view across your relevant assets and plan for proactive threat mitigation
